

8 Must-See Booths at Art Basel Miami Beach

From a mini George Segal survey to a victory lap for Hauser & Wirth, here is the best of the best from artnet's partner galleries.

artnet Gallery Network, December 6, 2018

Like Christmas music in department stores, it feels like Art Basel coverage gets introduced earlier and earlier every year. We've already looked at early sales and spotlighted some top emerging artists, yet the fair only just officially opened today.

And we're not done yet. As you peruse the aisles of the newly renovated convention center, here are eight booths from artnet's partner galleries that you won't want to miss.

In the fair's Survey sector, New York gallerist Peter Blum presents a solo show of rare sculptures from Joyce J. Scott, a Baltimore-born artist known for mixing traditional craft techniques with the language of contemporary sculpture. The works on display, all from the early part of Scott's prolific career, from the 1970s to the onset of the '90s, showcase her facility for melding intricate beadwork with blown glass, found objects, weaving, and other materials. Booth S16.
